

Lighthouse license plates Keep Washington Shining!

...by funding restoration, preservation and educational projects

The Swiftsure Lightship #83

Washington's only floating lighthouse is undergoing extensive restoration by Northwest Seaport at Seattle's Lake Union Park. Lighthouse license plates have helped fund electrical rigging, smokestack repairs, and skylight window and frame repairs.

New Dungeness Lighthouse

Because the New Dungeness lighthouse is located on the Dungeness Spit in the Dungeness National Wildlife Refuge, keepers make extra efforts to care for the ecosystem. License plate grants helped fund an industrial sewage pump and an upgraded water system to help protect the environment.

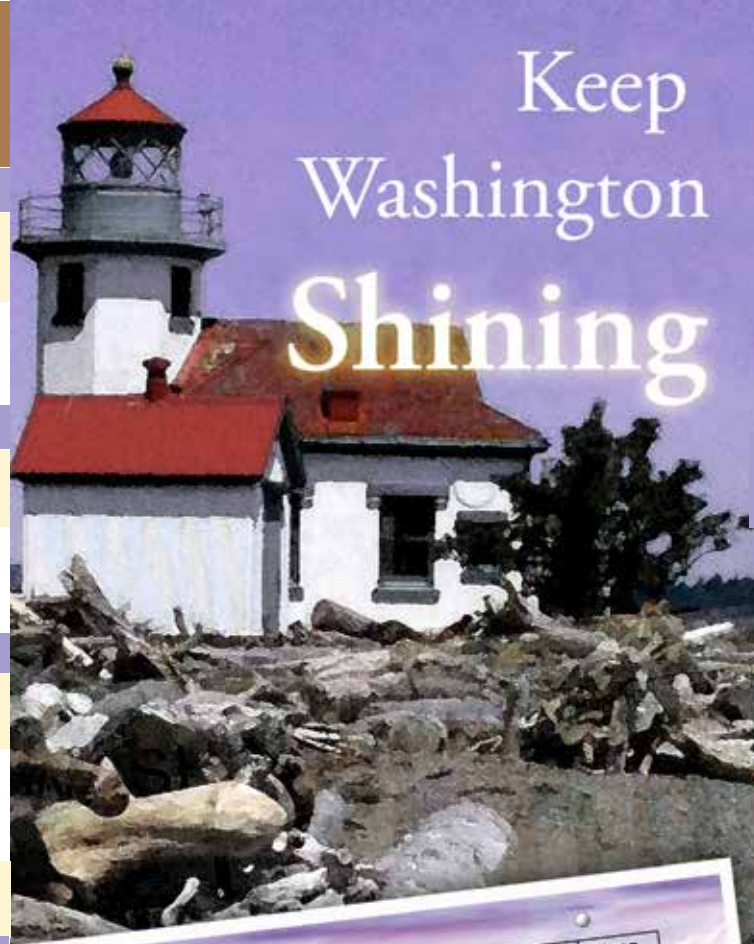

North Head Lighthouse

Two of the three license plate grants have helped North Head provide visitors with exterior and interior doors that are historically accurate representations of the original architecture of the lighthouse.

Five drives take you on a discovery of coastal treasures

www.WashingtonLighthouses.org

North Puget Sound Loop

Enjoy beautiful parks and beaches, light keepers' quarters and fun gift shops.

These lighthouses are all within 30 miles and a scenic Washington State Ferry ride from Seattle.

NE Olympic Peninsula Loop

Getting to these lighthouses is half the fun. Your hiking partners are shore birds and harbor seals.

Hike along the beaches through a wildlife preserve to these lighthouses. Stay overnight at New Dungeness, or tour Point Wilson from Fort Worden in Port Townsend.

San Juan Islands Loop

Sail by and wave, or stop in for the amazing view of these lighthouses in this unique archipelago

Take the Washington State Ferry from Anacortes to Friday Harbor; take ferries or private boats to other islands.

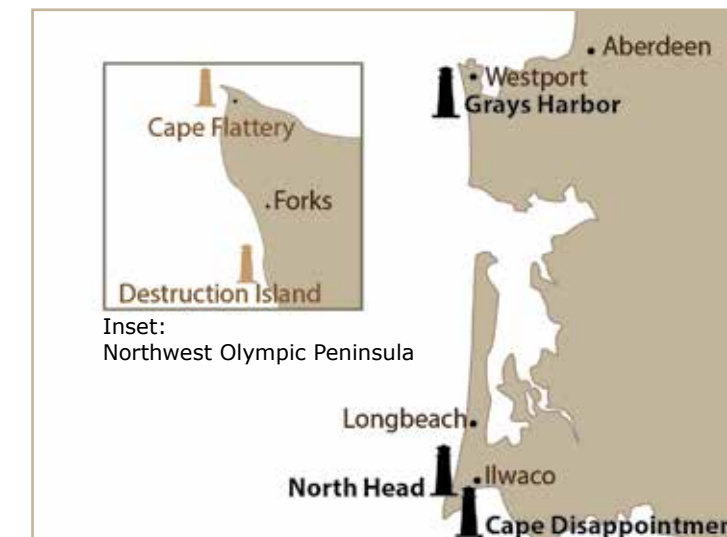

Seattle/Tacoma Loop

Storybook lighthouses and Washington's only light ship, docked at Northwest Seaport Museum.

Make it a weekend family outing to parks, bays and museums; see a light ship restoration in progress.

Washington Coast Loop

Visit the widest beaches and longest peninsulas in Washington State

Head west from I-5 to Westport or Ilwaco and take country roads to family fun, beaches built for kite flying and fresh oysters year-round.
